Financial Crisis Inquiry Commission

From the National Archives and Records Administration catalog entry for the Financial Crisis Inquiry Commission: "The Financial Crisis Inquiry Commission (FCIC) was a ten-member commission of the legislative branch appointed to investigate the causes of the economic and financial crisis of 2007-2010. The Commission, also known as the Angelides Commission after the Chairman, Phil Angelides, was often compared to the Pecora Commission, which investigated the causes of the Great Depression in the 1930s, so it was sometimes referred to as the New Pecora Commission.

FCIC was created by section 5 of the Fraud Enforcement and Recovery Act of 2009 (FERA) (Public Law 111-21, 126 Stat. 1617), signed into law by the President on May 20, 2009. That section of the Act set the purpose of the Commission, "to examine the causes, domestic and global, of the current financial and economic crisis in the United States."

These records are held by the National Archives and Records Administration, but are not located at the George W. Bush Presidential Library. Please contact the National Archives in Washington, DC for more information.
